

MEASURING KNOWLEDGE SHARING IN OPEN SOURCE SOFTWARE (OSS) DEVELOPMENT

Yuan (Yoanna) Long, Hasan School of Business, Colorado State University-Pueblo, 2200 Bonforte Blvd., Pueblo, CO 81001, 719-549-2816, Yoanna.long@colostate-pueblo.edu

Shifeng Zhang, Department of Business, Union College, 310 College St., Barbourville, KY 40906, 606-521-3883, szhang@unionky.edu

ABSTRACT

A successful OSS project is created through the growth of a community of individuals who share knowledge with each other. However, little research has been done to measure the knowledge sharing among this virtual community. Using content analysis, this research proposes a method to assess knowledge sharing of OSS teams.