

DEPRESSION & POST-TRAUMATIC STRESS IN ORGANIZATIONS AFTER 9-11

Amy Hurley-Hanson, Chapman University, One University Dr. Orange CA 92866, (714) 6287312, ahurley@chapman.edu

Cris Giannantonio, Chapman University, One University Dr. Orange CA 92866, (714) 6287320, giannant@chapman.edu

ABSTRACT

The attacks of September 11, 2001 affected human resource professionals and practices in many ways, one such area included employee relations. In the months and years following 9/11, the way in which HR professionals dealt with helping employees cope with depression, stress and anxiety were affected in one way or another. This paper outlines the findings of research conducted in the aftermath of the attacks.