ABSTRACT

Assessment is a critical topic in Colleges of Business, especially for those accredited by AACSB. We compare the often utilized business school student assessment instrument from Educational Testing Services (ETS), as well as the increasingly popular Capsim affiliated assessment, Comp XM. In spring 2016, MBA candidates in an AACSB accredited College of Business will take both as part of their capstone class. This work can contribute to the area of assessment for schools of business administration.
